

Download and Install the Adobe Acrobat Reader.

The following web address takes you to the Adobe Reader download area.

<http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep.html>

Scroll down and click on "Get Acrobat Reader Free"

Do NOT choose the "Get Acrobat ebook Reader" icon!!

Adobe provides three steps to help you begin the download process. You are required to fill in Step 1 with Language, Platform and location. Step 2 is optional and Step three is a click to download button.

Most web browsers will prompt you to save the file and allows you to select the location the file will download to. To ensure that you can locate the downloaded file, specify a convenient location such as the "Desktop".

If you forget to do this and then can not find the file once the download is complete, do the following.

The file name is ar500enu.exe. You can find the file using the Find File feature of your operating system:

In Windows 2000/ME, choose Start>Search>For Files or Folders, type the filename in the Search for Files or Folders Named text box and then click "Search Now."

In Windows 95/98 or WinNT, choose Start>Find>Files or Folders, type the filename in the Named text box and then click "Find Now".

In MacOS, choose File>Find or choose Edit>Find (in the finder), type the filename in the text box, and then click Find.

Once you have located the downloaded file, double click on the file name and the install program will begin.

It is advisable to close any browsers or running programs during the install process.
